About

Hosted by Between Friends Coffee and Between Friends Publishing in collaboration with the City of Warner Robins and Visit Warner Robins, this much-anticipated event is a celebration of books, artistry, and community spirit. Since its inception in 2017, the Middle Georgia Lit Fest has become a beloved annual tradition, bringing together independent authors, poets, illustrators, and artists to showcase their talents and share their passion for storytelling. MGLF26 promises to be bigger and better than ever, featuring a diverse array of literary professionals, creative vendors, and engaging activities for all ages.

The festival is free and open to the public, making it an inclusive event for families, book lovers, and creatives alike. Delicious food and coffee from local vendors will also be available to boost your festival experience.
